

Technology Revolution: A Catalyst for Change or Chaos? International Telecommunications Society Webinar

Speaker

Jagdish Dalal – A Visionary in the World of Technology and Management

Hosts

TELUS Communications
Academic Host, TBD

Registration: via Eventbrite

Date: May 16 @ 9:00 EST

Duration: 1 hour (30 min presentation, 30 minute Q&A)

Are we riding the wave of technological change, or is it engulfing us? Discover the profound impact of the tech revolution in our special webinar with Jagdish Dalal, an internationally renowned speaker, author, and strategist.

In an era marked by dramatic shifts – demographic changes, the pandemic's aftermath, global political unrest, aging infrastructures, and climate change – technology stands out as both a disruptor and an enabler. But what does this mean for businesses and humanity?

Jagdish Dalal delves into these critical questions, offering insights gleaned from over four decades at the forefront of technological and business innovation. As a former senior executive at global giants like Carrier, Xerox, and Unisys, and a partner at PwC, Dalal has been at the cutting edge, shaping the future of industries and governance across more than 20 countries.

This webinar will not only spotlight the intersection of technology with other global forces but also spark a conversation on its dual role in society. Prepare to explore:

- How is technology simultaneously driving and disrupting our world?
- What lessons can we learn from the technological revolution to navigate future challenges?
- How can we leverage technology as a force for good, empowering businesses and societies alike?

Join us for a thought-provoking session that promises to stretch your perceptions and inspire action. Engage directly with Jag and peers in an interactive Q&A session, where your views and questions will fuel a dynamic discussion.

Secure your spot now! Free registration available on Eventbrite.

About Jagdish Dalal:

Jagdish (Jag) Dalal is an internationally known speaker and author on management, strategies, and technology. Jag is viewed as a “futurist” who aims to thrive and survive in the changing world. His series of lectures on technology and the future of business have been recognized as “pushing the envelope” in strategic thinking while providing a practical framework for businesses and professionals. In his presentations, he draws on his experience of over four decades of senior corporate executive positions – CIO and VP of Business at Carrier, VP of Information Management at Xerox and Unisys, and a partnership with PwC.

He has been invited by organizations and governments of over 20 countries. He has been quoted and referenced by leading news organizations globally – WSJ©, New York Times©, TIME©, NPR, and CBS. He was inducted into the IAOP Leadership Hall of Fame in 2014.